THE ASK

REQUEST

Permission to publish The Elliman Way of AI under the Elliman name: a coursebook that teaches every Elliman agent to use AI the Elliman way.

Elliman agents will use AI whether or not they adopt any one company tool. This book puts the Elliman name and standards on every prompt they run, in ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini, Grok or Elli, without a platform-sized investment.

78%

of people who use AI at work bring their own tools rather than the company's.

13%

of salespeople use their CRM's full capabilities, though 80% of companies have one.

ACCENTURE · 2016

~18%

of Compass agents tried its new AI assistant in the first weeks, after CEO roadshows.

FORTUNE · 2026

What Elliman gets

- Brand on every AI result. Whatever tool an agent opens, the method carries the Elliman name.
- A training layer for Elli and Elius, the piece the research says platforms need to be adopted.
- Written rules for client data, Fair Housing and brand voice in AI.
- A recruiting piece no competitor has.
- Low cost and fast: no engineering, no integration, no multi-year rollout.

What I commit to

- Elliman reviews and approves the manuscript and cover before publication.
- No Elliman logo without separate written approval.
- The book follows Elliman brand, compliance and data policies.
- A chapter that sends agents to Elli and Elius, not away from them.
- The name comes off if Elliman ever asks.

Why Edmund Bogen

An Elliman broker associate in South Florida and author of Prompt to Close: The AI Playbook for Real Estate Professionals (Amazon). He teaches AI to agents every week through a mastermind and a Facebook group of nearly 20,000 real estate professionals, and founded the AI consulting firm Bogen.ai.

THE ADOPTION GAP

Companies buy the tools. Employees don't use them. A decade of research from the largest firms in the world says the same thing.

SOURCE	YEAR	FINDING
Accenture with CSO Insights	2016	80% of companies have a CRM; only 13% of salespeople use its full capabilities. 59% say they must use too many tools.
Microsoft & LinkedIn Work Trend Index	2024	75% of knowledge workers use AI at work. 78% of them bring their own AI tools.
Gartner Digital Worker Survey	2024	Only 23% of employees are completely satisfied with their work applications, down from 30% in 2022.
Gartner	2024	Only 48% of digital initiatives meet their business targets.
WalkMe (SAP), State of Digital Adoption	2025	Enterprises wasted $104 million on underused technology in 2024. Only 28% of employees know how to use their company's AI tools.
MIT NANDA, The GenAI Divide	2025	95% of enterprise AI pilots showed no measurable profit impact. Workers at over 90% of firms use personal AI tools anyway.

The pattern: employees already use AI. They use their own.

REAL ESTATE IS NO EXCEPTION

Agents are independent contractors. They pick their own tools, and no one can require them to change.

- Compass, 2026. A live demo day, CEO office roadshows and in-person training. Within weeks, about 15,000 of 83,000 agents had used its AI Assistant, roughly 18%.

"It takes a lot of work to get agents to actually adopt these tools."

Rory Golod, President of Growth, Compass · Fortune, September 2026

- Keller Williams Command. Agents told RealTrends they used it mainly because they had to register sales in it. One called it "clunky" for running a team.
- The counter-example: Morgan Stanley. Its AI assistant reached about 98% of advisor teams because it met advisors inside tools they already used.

The lesson: adoption follows familiarity. Meet people where they already work.

WHERE ELLIMAN STANDS

Elliman is investing seriously in AI. The public announcements describe the technology; neither describes how agents will learn to use it.

- Elli AI launched October 7, 2025, in Florida first, with a national rollout planned for 2026, for Elliman's roughly 6,600 U.S. agents.
- Elius launched July 8, 2026, with Google Cloud, turning Elliman's data into an intelligence platform.

Some agents will embrace Elli and Elius. Most will keep using ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini or Grok on their phones. Elliman needs a way to reach both groups.

THE BOOK

An Elliman-branded coursebook on using AI in real estate, written by an Elliman agent for Elliman agents. It teaches the skill, not one tool, so it works whichever AI an agent opens.

1. What changed in AI this year, in plain language, and what it means for a listing, a buyer and a closing.
2. AI skills and commands: reusable instructions that make any AI work the same way every time.
3. A prompt library for the daily work of an agent: CMAs, listing presentations, follow-up, market updates, client email and contract review.
4. The Elliman standard: brand voice, Fair Housing guardrails, and what client data never goes into a public AI tool.
5. Where Elli and Elius fit, so the book sends agents toward Elliman's own platforms.

WHY A BOOK WORKS

A platform needs agents to change tools. A book only needs them to keep using the ones they already have, the Elliman way.

- It works regardless of the tool. 78% of AI users bring their own; the book meets them there.
- It feeds Elli and Elius. WalkMe found companies that train their people get an 85% return on technology, against 22% for those that don't.
- It protects the firm. Personal AI use puts client data at risk; the book sets the rules in writing.
