JAY,

Elliman is making a serious investment in AI with Elli and Elius. The hard part will not be building the tools. It will be getting agents to use them.

The research is consistent. Companies buy tools, and people keep using the ones they already know. Compass put its CEO on the road this summer and got about one in five agents to try its new AI assistant.

There is an easier path. Instead of asking agents to switch, give them a manual for the AI they already use every day, ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini, Grok, and teach them to use it the Elliman way. Along the way, bring them into Elli.

That is The Elliman Way to AI: a coursebook written by an Elliman agent for Elliman agents. It gives Florida a branded piece no competitor has. I'd like your support to publish it under the Elliman name, starting here in Florida.

of people who use AI at work bring their own tools rather than the company's.

13%

of salespeople use their CRM's full capabilities, though 80% of companies have one.

ACCENTURE · 2016

~18%

of Compass agents tried its new AI assistant in the first weeks, after CEO roadshows.

THE ADOPTION PROBLEM

Companies buy the tools. People don't use them. A decade of research from the largest firms in the world says the same thing.

SOURCE	YEAR	FINDING
Accenture with CSO Insights	2016	80% of companies have a CRM; only 13% of salespeople use its full capabilities. 59% say they must use too many tools.
Microsoft & LinkedIn Work Trend Index	2024	75% of knowledge workers use AI at work. 78% of them bring their own AI tools.
Gartner Digital Worker Survey	2024	Only 23% of employees are completely satisfied with their work applications, down from 30% in 2022.
Gartner	2024	Only 48% of digital initiatives meet their business targets.
WalkMe (SAP), State of Digital Adoption	2025	Enterprises wasted $104 million on underused technology in 2024. Only 28% of employees know how to use their company's AI tools.
MIT NANDA, The GenAI Divide	2025	95% of enterprise AI pilots showed no measurable profit impact. Workers at over 90% of firms use personal AI tools anyway.

The pattern: people already use AI. They use their own.

REAL ESTATE IS NO EXCEPTION

Agents are independent contractors. They pick their own tools, and no one can require them to change.

- Compass, 2026. A live demo day, CEO office roadshows and in-person training. Within weeks, about 15,000 of 83,000 agents had used its AI Assistant, roughly 18%.

"It takes a lot of work to get agents to actually adopt these tools."

Rory Golod, President of Growth, Compass · Fortune, September 2026

- Keller Williams Command. Agents told RealTrends they used it mainly because they had to register sales in it. One called it "clunky" for running a team.
- The counter-example: Morgan Stanley. Its AI assistant reached about 98% of advisor teams because it met advisors inside tools they already used.

The lesson: adoption follows familiarity. Meet people where they already work.

START WHERE AGENTS ARE

Don't ask agents to switch. Teach them the Elliman way in the AI they already open every day, then bring them into Elli.

TODAY

Their own AI

ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini or Grok, on their phone, used their own way.

THE BOOK

The Elliman Way to AI

One method, one prompt library, one standard for brand, compliance and client data.

THE PAYOFF

Elli and Elius

Each chapter shows where Elliman's own tools do the job better.

Elli launched in Florida first, in October 2025. Florida is the natural place to prove this works before the national rollout.

WHAT'S IN THE BOOK

1. What changed in AI this year, in plain language, and what it means for a listing, a buyer and a closing.
2. AI skills and commands: reusable instructions that make any AI work the same way every time.
3. A prompt library for an agent's daily work: CMAs, listing presentations, follow-up, market updates, client email and contract review.
4. The Elliman standard: brand voice, Fair Housing guardrails, and what client data never goes into a public AI tool.
5. The bridge to Elli and Elius: when to move a task from a general AI into Elliman's platform, step by step.

Every prompt is written by an Elliman agent and tested on real listings and real clients.

WHY ME

An Elliman broker associate in South Florida and author of Prompt to Close: The AI Playbook for Real Estate Professionals (Amazon). I teach AI to agents every week through a mastermind and a Facebook group of nearly 20,000 real estate professionals, and I founded the AI consulting firm Bogen.ai.

WHAT ELLIMAN GETS

- A branded piece that sets Elliman apart. Compass has an app. Elliman agents get a playbook with the Elliman name on every prompt, in any AI they use.
- A path into Elli and Elius, the training layer that turns tool investment into daily use.
- Written standards for client data, Fair Housing and brand voice when agents use AI.
- A recruiting and retention piece: proof that Elliman teaches its agents to win with AI.
- Little cost and fast delivery: no engineering, no integration, no multi-year rollout.

What I Get

Visibility with Elliman agents across Florida. Agents who want to go further than the book can work with me as a coach. That is what makes this worth building.

What I'm Asking For

- Permission to use the Elliman name in the title and on the cover.
- Elliman review and approval of the manuscript.
- An introduction to Florida agents: office meetings or a training session.

No Elliman logo without separate written approval. The name comes off if Elliman ever asks.

Next Steps

1. A 30-minute conversation in October.
2. Agree on scope and the use of the Elliman name, with Elliman legal.
3. Launch with Florida agents, then offer it nationally.
